About PRM

PRM are experts when it comes to emergency management and planning. The team are highly experienced and driven by excellence and quality. PRM are the lead trainers in many different industries including Education, Construction, Healthcare, Aged Care and Disability.

About the Role

At PRM we teach specific to the industry we're training so it's not generic. Every client gets tailored training that's contextual to their work, their duties and their capabilities.

As a Workplace Trainer for PRM, you will be required to lead highly interactive and engaging training that integrates learning theories, instructional design and best practice learning methodologies to meet our clients' needs.

You will be a client contact for our Greater Sydney region, working with our clients to develop, implement, evaluate and maintain their workplace training and emergency planning needs

As the Workplace Trainer and Assessor for PRM, you will be required to;

- Deliver workplace emergency management training
- Develop, implement, evaluate and maintain their workplace training and emergency planning needs
- Maintain client relationships with some key clients based predominantly in the Sydney area.
- Respond to new client enquiries as they develop, and show exceptional customer service and attentiveness
- Peer review other Trainers
